Tickets

The members of the Bay-Waveland Auxiliary are making final plans for the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra's two performances here on March 10 at the Bay Junior-High-School-Gymnasium. Tickets are now being sold by the Auxiliary members for the 1:30 p.m. student concert and the 7:45 p.m. adult concert. Anyone wanting tickets should contact Mrs. Joseph Cox at 487-4718 or any Junior Auxiliary member.

A 71-year-old widow died Sunday morning in a fire which destroyed her Highland Drive home.

Firemen found the charred body of Mrs. Adele Kuehn by the front door of the house where she was apparently attempting to escape the flames. An electric clock in the front bedroom was stopped at 10:07, the time that firemen assumed the fire began.

At 11:20 a. m. the Bay St.

Louis fire station received a call from Andre Arceneaux, City Commissioner and next door neighbor of Mrs. Kuehn, reporting that the home was engulfed by flames.

Waveland and Pass Christian fire units, answering a call for help, assisted in extinguishing the blaze which according to firemen was out of control before any of the fire trucks arrived. Arceneaux suffered a sprained ankle as he helped fire fighters in the battle.

The state deputy fire marshal arrived Sunday evening for an inspection of the ruined home and said in a preliminary report that it appeared that the fire had started in the kitchen, spreading rapidly to the roof and through the house. A more detailed report will be filed in the fire marshal's office in Jackson.

Mrs. Kuehn had been a resident of Bay St. Louis for some years.

Board Will Support Area Model Project

Mrs. Eve McDonald of Bay St. Louis will serve as local coordinator for the Older American Area-wide Project in Hancock County, Mrs. Gwen H. Gollotte told county supervisors Monday.

The program to provide services to the elderly is under the auspices of the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District, for which Mrs. Gollotte is project coordinator. (Story on page 8B)

In another matter, architect Fred Wagner told supervisors that three local contractors had been contacted to submit bids on the emergency renovation work to the County building on Nicolas St. which changes voted to rescind an earlier motion to consider a proposal by de Laureal Engineers of New Orleans for that firm to conduct a study of water and drainage problems in the county.

Board president Dolph Keller recommended the appointment of Chamber of Commerce president Perry Gibson as chairman of a committee to expedite the Jackson Ridge project. A motion to that effect was passed, and authorizing any necessary expenditures to come out of the County Parks and Playgrounds account.

Bids were opened for a typewriter for the tax assessor's office, an hydraulic arm assembly for boat two, as well as a back hoe and trailer for boat five.

The only bid received for a 25-inch carriage typewriter for the

Supervisors Veto Resolutions

The County Board of Supervisors refused approval of two resolutions by the Port and Harbor Commission but ratified a third at a meeting Monday.

A motion was passed approving an $18,000 warrant to Mike Hooks, for payment of construction work at the industrial park. The warrant had formerly been held at Hooks had not been paid for some time.

Port and Harbor director Dr. Michael Smith affirmed the fact that the former board and old commission had already taken this action before he assumed office and that the reason he brought purchase of a metal field house in the industrial park was strongly opposed by beat one supervisor Jerry Ladner.

Ladner said that he was under the impression that Hill had already been paid for the four by six building without approval of the present board of supervisors. Port and Harbor in expressing the feeling that the situation, Smith said, "The field house was already on the site when I took office and my personal feelings are that personal property such as this should not be left on the site without full approval of the board. However, the former board had already taken action and $400 is a fair price for the building which is in good shape and in use." Smith added that it would cost twice the purchase price to replace the building.

Ladner made a motion to refuse ratification of the board. I don't think we should approve payment - let them pay it and maybe they'll learn not to do this again." Supervisor Oscar Peterson, seconded Ladner's motion, which then brought a negative reaction from the three remaining members of the board. Ladner's motion to refuse payment was rescinded by a three-to-two vote, and another passed to investigate the situation before complying with the original action.

Another Board action was

Bay Running In The Red

Bay St. Louis is facing a large deficit in city funds according to Commissioner Andre Arceneaux.

During Monday's city commission council meeting, Arceneaux pointed out expenditures in the February financial statement that were well over the pro-rata budgeted amount.

The largest deficit was for salaries in the Streets and Drainage Department. Arceneaux questioned Mayor Carver about the $9,635 over-spending but Carver assured the two commissioners that three men had already been removed from the payroll and that he planned further cut-backs in the future.

Commissioner Fritable also pointed out that expenses could be cut in the Public Grounds Department, possibly in the area of salaries which were $1,690 over budget during February. Carver again assured the council that he was making every attempt to cut expenses in the departments under his jurisdiction.

The Mayor then made the suggestion that the Bay Civil Defense Department be abolished and that police and firemen could be trained to handle civil defense matters during an emergency. Carver stated that this measure would save the city some money.

Commissioner Arceneaux reminded the Mayor of the importance of a good CD department and the fact that a portion of the money used to finance the Bay agency is reimbursed by the state.

Director Will Attend Workshop

J. R. Lavole, Bay St. Louis Civil Defense Director, has been selected by the Mississippi Civil Defense Council in Jackson, as one of three men from this state to attend a Civil Defense workshop in Thomasville, Ga.

Mississippi a quota of three local directors from the state to attend the workshop, which is scheduled for the week of March 14 through 18.

Lavole will be accompanied to Georgia by Andre Arceneaux, Bay St. Louis City Commissioner, and C.D. Coordinator. All expenses for those attending the workshop will be borne by the State office.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling
City-County Library Writer

One fine thing about living along the Gulf Coast is that you never have to go very far to find something of beauty or interest. We were impressed by that fact during a recent ride to Mobile, when the broad waters of the Gulf swept to the sky and danced and sparkled in the sunlight and the coastline ahead looked like an Old Dutch painting. We went past the long rows of grand old homes, the occasional stands of mammoth oaks, the trim shopping centers and motels, and at Pascagoula we stopped at the old Spanish Fort, just north of town.

This is a part of the oldest history of the State, and the relics preserved there come down to us from the Indians and from the earliest settlers; the ancient building itself is interesting and the numerous artifacts are well worth study. One antiquity is the remains of an Indian canoe hollowed out from a cypress log which lay buried in the nearby marsh for hundreds of years before it was dug out and placed in the museum.

Another place of special interest is right across the water from Bay St. Louis. It is the massive Pine Hills Hotel, a monument to failure. Five stories high, with some one hundred and eighty rooms and suites, everything combined to prevent its success right from the start. After two years of frustrating building difficulties, it was completed in 1927, the cream of luxurious summer resorts, and after less than two years of operation, it succumbed in the general crash of 1929. For two years it stood vacant and idle until it was taken over by the Army Corps of Engineers in the early '40's and the rooms on the first two floors were used as sleeping quarters; then it was hit very hard by the hurricane of 1947 which did extensive damage to the interior.

Abandoned again, it slumbered on until 1960, when the Oblate Fathers brought it to life again as a seminary for their order. Part of the first floor was converted into a large and well-stocked library. A lovely fountain with an immense concrete bowl was placed in front of the building before a huge statue of Christ.

All was serene for a few years, but the number of students slowly declined and the parent Order of Oblates did not thrive. The end came in 1967 and the old hotel was abandoned again for the third time. In '69 Camille broke every window on the long sought side of the building and completely destroyed the big fountain, though, miraculously, scarcely a drop of water was lost. The statue of the Savior, so again the big white hotel's 100 rooms are silent and forlorn. But it is a lovely and thought-provoking monument to failure and frustration when seen across the dancing water of the bay.

Another hotel which had a more successful and lively career was the Baldwin Lodge located a few miles west of town near the Mulatto Bayou, adjacent to Calbarne's old estate at Laurel Wood. This, from all accounts, was a fine hotel, richly furnished and a prime favorite as a summer resort for the elite of New Orleans; its grounds, though restricted by the surrounding marshland, were beautifully landscaped. Baldwin Lodge was just off the railroad and all the trains stopped there. Today it has completely disappeared and the site can be reached only by boat through a watery waste and the Mulatto Bayou.

Legislative Report

By EARL "BUCK" LADNER
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
HANCOCK COUNTY

A bill to amend section 2374-10 and 2374-15, Mississippi Code of 1925, has been introduced in the House of Representatives. This act would provide that prior to the adoption of such ordinance, the qualified electors registered to vote within the boundaries of the territory to be included or excluded in the proposed extension or contraction of the boundaries of a municipality shall approve of such extension or contraction. The approval shall be made by a majority vote of the qualified electors in such territory voting in an election to be held within sixty (60) days from the date of the initial municipal resolution calling for such extension or contraction. I have contacted various municipal officials and captured their feelings on this bill. I hope the citizens of our municipality will take time to write and express the feelings of the public. Send your letter to the New Capitol, Jackson, Mississippi.

It will not be at Scalfidi's Restaurant this weekend. I'm a member of the Mississippi National Guard and this weekend is a scheduled drill for my unit.

County Agent Notes

SOYBEAN VARIETIES

The kind of land that you have should partially determine the variety of soybean that you plant.

On heavy mixed soils that are poorly drained you should select a variety that is tolerant to the disease, phytophthora root rot. These include Davis, La 68, Plakett 71 and Semmes. With the possible exception of Semmes, these varieties will yield just as well on the lighter textured, well drained soils. Semmes can be used to best advantage on poorly drained clays where weeds are heavy. Bragg is a popular variety that is well adapted throughout the state. It is only moderately resistant to phytophthora root rot and is not the best choice on heavy clays. Bragg is quite competitive with weeds because of its tall growth. But it may lodge if planted too thick on fertile soil. To reduce lodging on such land, it is advisable to reduce seedling ranges to about eight to 10 seed per foot or row for 38 to 40 inch row widths. If the soybean cyst nematode is a problem in your area, Plakett 71 is good insurance on light textured soils.

HOME GARDENING

March and April are the two best months in the home garden. Vegetables planted earlier need care and all other vegetables can be planted in these two months.

Check your leafy vegetables: cabbage, lettuce, mustard, turnips and spinach - for insects. Harvest the leafy vegetables by removing the leaves rather than pulling up the entire plant. In this way you prolong the harvest season. After each harvesting, apply around one-fourth pound of ammonium nitrate per 100 feet of row. This will encourage new growth. As the weather warms up, harvest the greens at a smaller leaf size since leaves toughen early in warm weather. Plant the warm season vegetables according to the recommended planting calendar and remember to use good seeds - they don't cook, they pay!

FERTILIZER PLACEMENT
Apply your fertilizer so that it will be available to the plants during early growth, but far enough away to prevent injury to the seedlings and possible loss of stand.

Two ways to do this are to broadcast the fertilizer which will dilute the total concentration so that injury to stands should not be a problem. The other method is to band the fertilizer at least six inches to the side and six inches below the seed drill.

Host Oral Roberts' musical drama presentation "The Centurion" to be aired nationally March 27 - April 2.

A successful television musical production requires a quality singer-actor combination, and Oral Roberts has lined up such a combination for his upcoming Easter Special, "The Centurion," to be aired nationally March 27 - April 2.

Stated for starring roles are Harve Presnell as the Centurion and Show Boat Richard Roberts as Pilate. Making special guest appearances are Jane Powell as Claudia, Pilate's wife, and Peter Graves as Luke. Also featured on the show are the World Action Singers and the Ralph Carmichael orchestra.

The show has been specially adapted for television by Writer-Arranger Ralph Carmichael, with words and music by Jack Coleman. "The Centurion" presents the religious world's most significant historical event in a new light.

Noted for his leading role in several Broadway hits, Presnell with his booming voice and rugged looks is ideal in his casting as the Centurion. Some of his Broadway credits include "Carousel," "Shogun," "Camelot," "Oklahoma," and "Kiss Me Kate." He has also appeared in MGM's "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and United Artists' "Gloria Gays."

WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?

The answers to this question are amazing and shocking. Usually, when a person answers the question, "What is a Christian?" he will try to do so by telling you what a Christian does rather than what a Christian is.

For instance, he will say: "A Christian is someone who is good. A Christian is someone who believes in God. A Christian is someone who keeps the Ten Commandments."

Perhaps the most popular answer of all is: "A Christian is a person who goes to church or belongs to a church."

In brief, asked to define the term, "Christian," people will respond by telling you the ethical and moral things that a person should do, but this does not tell what a Christian is.

It is true that a Christian should be ethical, that he should keep the Ten Commandments, that he should be good, that he should believe in God, that he should keep the Ten Commandments, that he should go to church, that he should belong to a church, that he should be ethical and moral, that he should do the things that a person should do, but this does not tell what a Christian is.

Forestry Report

Mississippi Forestry Commission Forester Mike Hendry of Hancock County reminds landowners of some of the services offered by the Commission.

Landowners may get on the ground advice and assistance from the Commission's Technical Foresters pertaining to tree planting, timber marking, timber stand improvement, insect and disease control and other phases of forest management. A recently initiated program deals with assistance to urban homeowners who want or need advice on shade and ornamental trees. This program offers assistance to city councilors as well as individuals.

Other services on a fee basis are fireline construction and prescribed burning. All assistance is done on a first-come first-served basis. While the Commission provides fireline and control burns in a fee system, the free services are available just by asking.

A problem that has come to view recently is the flooding of valuable timberland by beavers.

A beaver trapping program was started a few years ago, providing landowners with a means of ridding their land of the pests. If anyone has unwanted beavers they may request the Commission to trap them. This service is free.

For more information about any of these services contact Mississippi Forester Hendry at P.O. Box 112 Bay St. Louis, Miss. or, phone 255-7152.

Mrs. Erwin has always been interested in an wanted to become a home economics teacher. Her personal beliefs are carried throughout her teaching and all her energies combine to show

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Nobody's Child"

Right now, roughly one American baby in 10 is being born out of wedlock. Together, these children form yet another "minority" group in our society—the illegitimates. Do they have constitutional rights? Does the Constitution guarantee them equal treatment, just as it does to racial and religious minorities?

The common law had a scornful name for anyone born to an unwed woman: "illegitimate." For centuries, such children labored under severe legal handicaps.

However, a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court has taken a giant step toward equalizing their status.

The case arose when five illegitimate children sought damages for the wrongful death of their mother in a hospital. Under state law, illegitimate children had no right to make this kind of a claim.

SPACE Aeronautics

SKILLED LABOR
WASHINGTON — Oklahoma oil drillers plan to honor astronaut David Scott for drilling the first and deepest hole on the Moon. They say that Scott earned the industry's Golden Driller Statue when he drilled the Number 1 Hadley Rille during his lunar exploration on Apollo 16.
We find that very interesting because this honor recognizes another in a long list of trades and skills practiced by our astronauts in space exploration.
We recall way back in the Mercury days of one-man space flights when Wally Schirra played the harmonica and was awarded a golden harmonica and a musician's union card for this feat.
The first team to land on the Moon — Armstrong and Aldrin — were similarly honored by professional photographers for their excellent photo work on the Moon. Certainly someone is going to make a plumber's award to David Scott for repairing a leaking water line aboard the command module. And we suppose the electrical workers union will get into the act by recognizing Jim Irwin's skill in trouble shooting and correcting the loose electrical connection that delayed the separation of the command module from the lunar module in the early stages of the Apollo 16 flight.
And that was no mean feat, getting the lunar rover into operation on the Moon's surface. It took some rare kind of mechanics to get it rolling, and rare type of chauffeur to drive this strange four-wheeler. The first wheels were jammed, but the astronauts managed to maneuver the lunar rover, using the back wheels to guide the vehicle.

THE CHILDREN'S CLASSIC, "Rumpelstiltskin," was performed by the well-known Vagabond Marionettes. "Rumpelstiltskin" is the famous children's story by the Brothers Grimm. It is the tale of a little man who helps the miller's daughter spin straw to gold but makes her promise to give him the first child in return. In order to keep his promise, he must guess her name.

The performances were given at Bay St. Louis High School on March 3 for second, third, fourth and fifth grades. The shows were at 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and admission was free. This program was sponsored by the Bay Waveland Junior Auxiliary. Rumpelstiltskin featured many "magical" effects which have delighted audiences. One such effect is a forest scene with ghosts and goblins which is performed in black light. This gives a weird appearance to everything on stage. Another such effect which is an audience favorite is the spinning wheel that turns straw to gold. "One little boy wrote us after we performed in Chambers, Georgia that he really thought Rumpelstiltskin was a nice guy after all. He also added in his letter to please send him a spinning wheel so he could turn straw to gold," says Mr. Anthony, director of the Vagabond Marionettes.

Girl Scouts Hold 'Thinking Day'

The Bay St. Louis Waveland Girl Scout Neighborhood held a "Thinking Day" Program and Tea, Sunday, at North Bay Elementary School in honor of the birthdays of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, the founders of scouting.

Men Rescued Off Waveland Shore

By Andrew Sharpe
Echo Staff Writer

Thursday was a bad day for residents of the Bay-Waveland area.

The day began with a tornado at dawn which destroyed a number of homes in Bay St. Louis, seriously damaged others in Waveland and injured two persons. A downpour in the aftermath of the tornado finished off furnishings and contents of the damaged homes.

Civil Defense Director Jackson Kidd for Bay St. Louis, accompanied by William H. Baker, Lakeland, Miss., and Dr. George H. Baker, Jr., Waveland, Miss., and a police patrol boat to rescue a man and his son who had been swept out to sea by the storm.

At 5:30 p.m. the patrol boat returned to Bay St. Louis with the half-frozen man and his son who had been swept out to sea by the storm.

The day closed with the rescue of two Waveland men and a small boy, adrift in small skiffs off the Waveland shore.

Henry Spurlock and his seven-year-old son, Scott, left the Waveland beach near St. Clare's Church about 3 p.m. to set crab traps. Almost a mile off shore, Spurlock's outboard motor failed. Heavy tides and off shore winds carried the skiff out to sea.

Wayne Stolz, another Waveland resident and friend of Spurlock, set out in his skiff to rescue the father and son, but as Stolz said later, "Just as I got about half way, my motor kicked out." Stolz, too, began to drift into the Sound.

Mr. Leslie Blaize of Bay St. Louis received such a good deal on a 1972 Chevy Vega from Turan-Lane Chevrolet that he decided to buy a Vega for his daughter Jude. Many of Turan-Lane Chevrolet customers are repeat customers because they like the way they were treated on the previous deals. When Turan-Lane Chevrolet sells a car they want their customers to buy from them next time and that is one of the reasons they try and give them the best deal possible. Mr. Blaize recommends Joe Bull and Turan-Lane Chevrolet to all of his friends.

tax assessor was accepted for $444 from International Business Machines, Mississippi Road Supply Co. submitted the only bid for an hydraulic arm assembly to be mounted on a boat two tractor, for a total price of $1,211.77, which was accepted unanimously.

Some confusion resulted when two bids were opened for a back hoe and trailer for best five, as a bid from Nabors Co. was found not to be in order. The other bidder was Coastal Machine Co. The latter two bids were taken under advisement until the board attorney could be consulted.

In a recessed session Monday afternoon, the Nabors Co. bid was disqualified due to a lack of a state bid number, so Coastal Machine Co.'s bid of $16,912 for the back hoe and $2,310 for the trailer was accepted as the only remaining legitimate bid submission.

In other action, supervisors considered a request from the Tennessee Pipeline Co. for a permit to cross a portion of 16-section land in the Waveland area in order to lay a 36-inch pipeline 22-feet east of the existing pipeline. The company representative told the board he could submit maps indicating the location and manner of laying the proposed line for their approval.

Beat five supervisor James Travira was reappointed by unanimous vote to serve on the Marine Conservation Commission. Travira has been a member of the commission representing Hancock County for the past eight years.

Claims dockets for the five beats were reviewed and a motion passed to approve all claims with the exception of certain times which were withheld from beats three, four and five.

Chancery Clerk John Rutherford was authorized by the board to set up a G.E.C. funded account for future necessary repairs to the Court House.

Supervisors were notified by NASA officials at the Mississippi Test Facility that an earlier request to use a section of land on the Kili-Lee Town Road for a county sanitary land fill was refused. The section of land in question is within the NASA buffer zone and NASA officials felt the site particularly unsuitable for such purposes.

Ladner Strongly Opposes Gas Tax Increase

In an exclusive statement to the Echo Wednesday, State Representative Earl (Buck) Ladner said that he is very much opposed to a bill now on the House calendar which proposes a one-cent-per-gallon tax increase on gasoline.

Ladner said House Bill 574, originally introduced by Representatives Pierce and Brown, is on the House calendar subject to vote at any time. The tax increase bill was precipitated by Governor William Waller's recently proposed $600 million highway improvement program, to be funded through the gasoline tax increase.

Ladner said, "I am strongly opposed to this bill and will do everything I can to stop it as I feel the people of Hancock County can't afford such an increase."

He further stated that he is not opposed to the governor's highway program in its entirety, but is against this method of funding the project. Ladner said he feels the vote will be close but is confident that it will not pass.

Python Peddler Pursued

Police Lose Man In Wooded Area

More than a dozen law enforcement officers, led by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, combed wooded areas of western Hancock County Sunday afternoon and most of the night, in pursuit of a man at first thought to be an escaped convict from New Orleans.

Early Sunday afternoon, C. A.

Boal, owner of the Reptile Farm on Highway 90, called the sheriff's office when he was approached by a man attempting to sell him six pythons. Boal told the sheriff that he felt certain the snakes belonged to a friend who owned a reptile farm in Laplace, La.

The man fled on foot before deputies arrived, setting off the search that continued until almost dawn.

The man, later identified by the Laplace farm owner as Blackie Boudreaux, fit the description of Billy McLeod, a 27-year-old convict from Angola who had escaped Saturday from Charity Hospital in New Orleans.

Boudreaux had driven to the Reptile Farm in a 1966 Chevrolet truck, which the sheriff's office later identified as stolen from D. J. Flint of Ocean Springs. A warrant for Boudreaux's arrest has been issued in Laplace for the theft of the pythons and some Mynah birds.

The sheriff was assisted in the search by deputies James Ladner, Lathan Garriga, Willie Lee, Mike McFarland, Constable Sam Periclaro, Highway Patrolmen Mike Ladner, Clyde Heister, James Woodfin and David Brooks. Biloxi policeman James Hamilton brought two K-9 police dogs to aid in the search.

Later Monday, Sheriff Ladner received word that Boudreaux had returned to the Laplace reptile farm where he had allegedly stolen the pythons.

Ladner said in answer to numerous calls from the area residents, Boudreaux is positively not the escaped convict wanted by Louisiana police.

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors finds and determines that the Hancock County Hawks is among the finer basketball teams in the State of Mississippi, being composed of young men of sterling character, a will to win, the ability to play as a team, and generally young men of great athletic ability as well as high morals;

Crime Commission Requests Audit Of Supervisors Unit

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission has asked Lt. Gov. William Winter to have an audit made of the accounts and records of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors.

In a letter to Winter, Robert Rasch, president of the MCCC, asked that an independent CPA firm make the audit and that the results be made public. The letter called Winter's attention to the analysis of Mississippi county governmental expenditures and management of road and bridge construction and maintenance by Jack A. Corkran of Mississippi State University and to the January, 1972, report of the General Legislative Investigating Committee to the state legislature.

"Not only is the citizen caught in the vortex of this controversy but we are painfully aware that some responsible and dedicated public officials have suffered personally as the result of indiscretions of associates," the letter states. "The MSU Analysis states, 'The actual total amount paid from county funds to the Association (of supervisors) was indeterminate in that it has been concealed in the annual audit reports by including the amount in the category of other expenses.'" Rasch stated.

Rasch then received a letter from the MAS signed by W.M. Patterson, president, and James D. Green, chairman of the executive committee invited MCCC's president to investigate the association's records at any time.

In response to the invitation, Rasch replied:

"If the Mississippi Association of Supervisors is dependent upon tax money, in whole or part, for its operational funds, the taxpayers of Mississippi have a very real and profound interest in the financial records and accounts of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors. We feel that the taxpayer should be informed of the amounts and identification of all monies received by your Association, county by county; other funds received and from what sources and for what purposes; administrative, salaries and other expenses and programs; and an explanation entirely responsive to the question as to why your Association should be funded by tax money while other State governmental employees must fund their associations and organizations through personal membership fees and assessments."

"Until such time as the General Legislative Investigating Committee is appointed to serve the current Legislature, and they have had an opportunity to consider and take appropriate action upon the request of this Commission to direct an audit of the accounts and records of your Association by an independent, nationally recognized firm of Certified Public Accountants with public disclosure of this audit, we do suggest that your Association could render a distinct public service to the people of Mississippi through immediate publication of the available information as set forth in your letter of February 17th, and as indicated above. Such a forthright approach would serve to relieve many existing questions and anxieties of the public. All of the people of Mississippi have an enormous stake in this matter, and we believe your Association and the General Legislative Investigating Committee should judiciously act to clarify your position."

The courageous engineer Casey Jones, commemorated in song and on a postage stamp, was killed in a train wreck near Vaughan (Yazoo County) in 1900. Released by the Mississippi Economic Council.

Citizen's vs Crime

More people are becoming interested in law enforcement because 'more' people are becoming victims of crime. According to the FBI, here are the shocking facts: major crimes up 11% in the nation last year, with odds of being a victim of a serious crime almost 2 1/2 times greater than a decade ago.

Last year, individuals spent over $2 billion on efforts to deter crime — on burglar alarms, locks, karate lessons and the like — a figure that exceeds over 1/2 billion the entire amount appropriated in the 1971 Federal budget to reduce crime.

Now, in most towns and cities, organized groups of private citizens are becoming a potent force in the nation's fight against crime. Such volunteer groups attack crime in several ways. There are ways you can help too. Why not inquire about such a group in your city.

Your efforts, however so small, can help in our great battle: "Citizens vs Crime".

Colder weather prevailed over the past week with warring up trends during the day which made perch and bass take underwater baits instead of surface baits. When the weather stays warm with no rain these fish should start fighting surface plugs and lures which makes for beautiful fly and casting fishing. Mostly perch have been caught on live worms, dead shrimp, and other live baits, especially minnows. Salt water fishing is still on the down grade most everywhere. Speckles, red fish, etc. haven't been too hot lately. A change in the weather and water should help wonderfully.

He does fly fishing and catches flounders. There is no better sports he said.

Archie D. Whitton is now retired. He does both fly fishing and casting on every occasion. Catches his share of fish, too.

Ricky Gottschalk and his uncle Honey Schwall celebrated Honey's birthday by going fishing. Honey says he was 16 last week because he has a birthday every leap year. He is really 65 years of age. They caught some real white perch which they said are still biting good.

Soft shell crabbing and floundering hasn't started as yet but should soon.

Lynn Jennings paid his family a visit last week. Lynn is from Torrance, California, and took home with him some shrimp and oysters from the Gulf Coast for his friends. He is a former student of St. Stanislaus and Bay High School and was a member of the boxing teams of these schools.

Zeke Hunter enjoys fishing.

JAMES J. RADA, JR., another of our retired fishermen. James loves any kind of fishing. Goes on every occasion. He is also an advocate on protecting our fish and game as well as making our outdoors a haven for fishing and other sports.

Martin John Van Eerd is owner and operator. They have different kinds of sausage and other home made delicacies. Make mighty good eating any old time. Marty is also a fisherman.

The Boy Scout District meeting will be held on March 10th, 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Home. Scouters are urged to attend. There is always something to do for those interested in Scout work.

Next time you buy a drink in a can, put the tab top back in the can before you start drinking. The tab won't come out, and you'll be doing a small part toward keeping the environment clean. Miss. Game and Fish Commission.

It is said: Recent survey showed that four out of five women haters are women.

Report is that plenty white perch, (crapple, sac-a-lait) are being caught now in most of our local lakes. They are a very popular game fish. Caught mostly in deeper water. Can be caught by still fishing and on the fly rod with black knot and spinner. Let bait go to the bottom and retrieve upward slowly. Average weight is around 1 1/2 pounds but grow much larger in certain places. Eagle Lake near Vicksburg is a popular place for this species. When caught on a fly rod they put up a real fight.

Alligators are getting more and more plentiful since they are protected by law. Our bayous are full of them. See two or three every time we go fishing.

The Bull Frog, a webfooted fellow is a real treat on the table. As soon as the weather warms up they are sought after by sportsmen. Catching frogs in Louisiana is prohibited during April and May, which is a closed season. Frogs can be caught on surface baits on the fly rod if one knows how to manipulate them. Will hit a fly thrown past them and dragged up to the head. They jump a foot or more to get the bait. Sounds stupid, but it's true. Put up a real scrap when hooked. Giggling them with a head light is the right procedure.

Leo Choina, called the "mayor of Cedar Point" is prepping up to do some fishing. Leo is a past master at catching speckles.

Tut and John Monti are two of our old time fishermen. Will probably see them out when the weather improves.

An electric motor is hard to beat when it comes to fly fishing and casting. No paddler is needed. A person can run the motor and he and his partner both fish. Operates on a 12 volt battery which keeps it going for 6 or 7 hours. Better get one if you enjoy real fishing. Been using one for over 5 years.

LAST RUN... Rivers Trahan stopped in Bay St. Louis recently on his last trip as a Grayhound bus driver. Trahan, who has been driving for 30 years and 18 days, had the route from New Orleans to Montgomery, Ala., and his voluntary retirement was effective March 1. Although his home base is New Orleans, the 62-year-old driver said he would like to travel around the country by bus (he has a lifetime pass) but on local routes because "you don't see anything on Interstates". A happy man? Trahan said his ambition as a young man was to be a bus driver and he would do the same thing again if he had the chance.

Elderly Area Model Project Implementation Underway

Implementation of the Area-wide Model Project for the Elderly was announced by Al Rushing, Chairman of the Task Force, at a meeting on Thursday with Task Force members, staff, service agency executives and representatives of the Mississippi Council on Aging and Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District. The meeting, held in the auditorium of the Mississippi Power Company, Gulfport, enabled the Task Force and Gulf Coast Community to pay tribute to Mrs. Arnette Giles who recently was honored in Washington, D. C. by President Richard Nixon. Mrs. Giles, a Task Force representative for Hancock County, was the recipient of the National Volunteer Award given annually for outstanding service to others. She was recognized for her tireless endeavors with the mentally retarded as well as volunteer service to the isolated and homebound elderly. Responding to the tributes paid by Mrs. Gwen Gollotte, Project Coordinator, and Mr. E. D. Kenna, Executive Director, Mississippi Council on Aging, Mrs. Giles urged everyone present to give of themselves to others and to serve all those in need when called upon.

The offices in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties are now open for the information and Referral services which will be related to all the projects services. The Central Offices located in the Security Savings and Loan Building, also accommodate the Harrison County Information and Referral Services; Hancock County's V. Valena C. Jones School, Bay St. Louis, will serve as the major center for that area; The Jackson County Center is located in Moss Point at 829 Bellevue, a former residence with spacious grounds; the latter listed centers have been contributed by the Boards of Supervisors and Municipalities of the area.

New staff members were introduced for the three information and Referral Centers: Mr. Thomas R. Pleasant, Harrison County; Mrs. Eve MacDonald, Hancock County; and Mrs. Betty Slater, Jackson County. Referrals and requests for services may be telephoned to the offices at the following numbers: Harrison County 884-2610; Hancock County 467-9291; Jackson County 475-3840, and the pilot project for Meals on Wheels in the Biloxi area 432-1611. Persons on organizations wishing to volunteer services, furnishing or equipment may contact the aforementioned Coordinators at the numbers listed.

The Task Force Chairman, Mr. Rushing, introduced Miss Kay O'Neal, State Coordinator from the Mississippi Council on Aging Office, Jackson, who discussed the priorities for services. Miss O'Neal cited the need for services to those individuals deemed "high risk" or "most vulnerable", i.e., "individuals over 75 and older, living alone, physically or mentally homebound, geographically isolated, socially isolated, or who have lack of knowledge of lack of motivation". She stressed that these factors contribute most to institutionalization of the elderly and cited the statistics relating to the three Gulf Coast Counties, obtained from the 1970 Census and surveys conducted by the Mississippi Council on Aging and the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District during the past several months.

Prior to the meeting of the general Task Force, the Executive Committee, along with representatives of the state and district offices, met to
